Letter From the Director

Let me start by wishing you and your family a very Happy New Year. 2020 is also the start of a new decade. That is, in itself, monumental in its possibilities. With the ever increasing speed that information travels today, as well as the ever changing methods of delivering that info, we here at the library are always striving to keep up. Combining that demand with the needs of our community is always at the core of our mission.

So with that mission in mind, we continue to expand our Young Adult and Children's online collections. You may know that we already offer Tumblebooks, a large e-library of books, audiobooks, videos and puzzles, to not just our cardholders but to the entire population of our school district. Our Sebcu e-books are also geared to our younger grades (birth through 6 grade) and like Tumblebooks, have no wait times. We are now regularly purchasing Young Adult materials for availability through Overdrive (with your library card). We recognize the dual accessibility skills that our future adults possess for print and online offerings and are happy to accommodate and strengthen them. Hoopla has lots to offer to this demographic as well, especially in music and graphic literature.

To further our commitment to our young residents, we are embarking on a full renovation of what we refer to as our Youth Study Center. This space has had only cosmetic and/or emergency work done on it over the years. We are replacing and upgrading everything from floor to ceiling and from HVAC to wi-fi. The space will be reconfigured to serve as our Children's room with a separate young adult area. This reno will not only improve access and security for the kids, it will open space in the main library for our adult patrons.

The project will also include upgrades for increasing technology and power demands for the entire library and is designed to keep pace with those upward curves. My head was spinning with what that entails, but with help from RCLS (our library consortium), our engineering firm and trusted computer experts, we are ready for the challenge. And if you're wondering about funding, I can only hint that we'll have some great news in the spring. We will definitely keep you posted on everything.

So keep reading, dear patron, not just this newsletter (which is full of good things) but whatever you enjoy, be it printed book, New York Times online or subtitles in one of our foreign films. Your brain will thank you and so, by the way, do we.

Jill Cronin, Director

BOOK LOVER'S CLUB REVIEW—Stay With Me by Ayobami Adebayo

The story of a Nigerian marriage, Stay With Me is a beautifully written novel that focuses on the trials of a young wife (Yejide) who has not been able to have children. The repercussions of this extend far beyond simply her and her husband, Akin. Although neither ever wanted polygamy as an option for them, the extended family (which holds an enormous amount of power!) insists on it. The introduction of another wife, the lies being told by Akin, the manipulation of women and the power of men in the Nigerian society, all come together to bear heartbreaking fruit for all. This is an emotionally rich and poetic debut novel that was hard to hear but very satisfying to read

MATERIALS DONATION

Until further notice, we are not accepting donations due to a lack of space. Please be aware that any donations left outside the Library are immediately discarded because of possible insect and/or rodent infestation, as well as dampness issues. Thank you.

Registration is required for all Adult, Young Adult, Children, and Family programs and may be done online at www.gwllibrary.org, in person or by telephone at (845) 477-8377 Ext. 101 (unless in-person registration is required where noted).

When noted, all children must be accompanied by an adult.

Seating is limited; early registration is highly recommended.

For additional information about a particular program, please call the individual staff member as noted.

Patrons of all abilities are welcome to register for Library programs. However, if you are in need of assistance for a particular program, we graciously request that you bring along a caretaker to assist you. Unfortunately, due to the time constraints for our programs, the Programmer is unable to offer individualized attention; thus, having a caretaker accompany you will be most helpful to you, as well as to the Programmer.
