Director's Letter

Happy New Year Everyone!

I hope this year brings you, and your loved ones, good health and happy days. Thank you for your continued patronage and ongoing support of our little library. Let me point out just a few of our highlights of last year and what's coming up this year.

As you know, we have resumed some in-person programming. We were so happy to be connecting with our residents, face-to-face again, well(mask-to-mask anyway). Seeing those little faces at Storytime again is the best incentive for what we do here. Trust me when I say seeing a three year old pretend to be the group storyreader can make an old soul new again. Over the last year, we also created programming to help stop the spread and provide services to vulnerable and/or cautious residents. Being able to do Chair Yoga from home or here at the library proved to be a very popular solution. Our younger patrons expanded their book collections and artistic inclinations by joining our hugely successful Creative Reading Club. As you'll see in this newsletter, we're continuing to offer these and many more programs in a variety of formats so that our taxpayers can choose what works for them personally.

I hope you are enjoying the new layout of the library. We've opened up our floors to lessen congestion, allowing for safe congregation of families and/or individuals, and easier access to the different collections. We continue our renovations on the HVAC systems this year with new equipment to service the computer and staff areas. As always, we utilize as much aid funding as possible to support these much needed building projects. More news on that in the spring. So, fellow Lakers, enjoy the coming months anyway that makes you happy. Borrow a fishing pole to ice fish, the new bestseller to cuddle up with, or stream a movie in the lodge while your kids race down a snowy hill. We hope to see you soon.
